You Haven't Got the Missing Lotto Ticket Have You?

The hunt is on in the Havant area for a lucky winner who has yet to come forward to claim a Lotto jackpot prize worth a fantastic £58,743.

The mystery ticket-holder matched all five numbers and the bonus ball in the draw held on Wednesday 21 December 2005 and has until 5.30pm on 19 June 2006 to make their claim. The winning Lotto numbers for that draw were 5, 6, 12, 13, 31, 45 and bonus ball 24.

If no-one comes forward with the winning ticket before the deadline, then the prize money plus the interest generated will go to the Good Causes – adding to the £17 billion already raised through sales of lottery tickets over the last 11 years.

A Camelot spokesperson, said: "The ticket could have been bought when someone was out Christmas shopping, so it may be that in all the rush the ticket was put away somewhere safe. We are urging players to go back though their old receipts and paperwork to try find the elusive ticket. This life-enhancing prize really could make a difference to somebody and could be a wonderful start to the New Year."

To jog Lotto players' memories, on 21 December 2005, The Producers had just opened at the cinema, while the Pussycat Dolls were topping the charts with Stickwitu. Closer to home, Havant and Waterlooville FC fans were contemplating their recent 2 – 1 defeat in the Southern League against local rivals Basingstoke, while audiences were enjoying a performance of James and the Giant Peach at the Havant Arts Centre.
