National Lottery Statement About The Unclaimed Lotto Prize

Camelot Group plc, operator of The National Lottery, is pleased to announce that one of the two unclaimed Lotto prizes in the Warrington area, a £55,639 prize from the Lotto draw on 9 February 2008 – which had previously remained outstanding – has now been claimed.

Camelot can confirm that the winning ticket has now been validated but at this time the winner wishes to remain anonymous. Unless the winner of a major National Lottery prize opts to take full publicity and signs an agreement to that effect, no further information can be released about their win.

A National Lottery spokesperson said: “We’re delighted that the winner of this prize has now come forward and we hope that they will enjoy their win. It would have been awful if the ticket-holder had missed out on this substantial and life-enhancing amount of money. We have our fingers crossed that the other ticket-holder from Warrington will also come forward. We would like to remind all National Lottery players to check their tickets every time they play.”

The second winning ticket that remains unclaimed in the Warrington area, for £70,092, matched five numbers and the bonus ball in the Lotto draw on 5 January 2008. The winning Lotto numbers on that date were 2, 3, 12, 20, 33 and 49 and the bonus ball was 11. The lucky ticket-holder has until 5.30pm on 3 July 2008 to come forward and make their claim.

Notes to Editors

- Camelot Group plc is the licensed operator of The National Lottery and is committed to raising money for the Good Causes designated by Parliament. Camelot is not responsible for distributing or awarding these funds
- To date, over £20 billion has been raised for the Good Causes by The National Lottery, and more than 280,000 individual awards have been made across the UK – the biggest programme of civic and social regeneration since the 19th Century. The National Lottery has given away over £29 billion in prizes and created more than 2,000 millionaires or multi-millionaires since launch in 1994
- Camelot runs one of the most cost-efficient lotteries in the world, with around 5% of total revenue taken in operating costs. At 40% of total sales (28% to the Good Causes and 12% in lottery duty to the Government), Camelot returns a higher proportion of lottery revenue back to society than any other lottery operator in the world. National Lottery retailers receive 5% of total revenue in commission, and 50% of sales is paid out to players in prizes
- Camelot is committed to the highest standards in player protection and social responsibility in both the retail and interactive environments. The National Lottery website, Sky Active and Play By Text services have been accredited by GamCare, the UK's national centre for information, advice and practical help regarding the social impact of gambling – while Camelot's approach to game design, test purchasing and retailer vigilance campaigns ensures player protection at retail. Camelot is ranked first in the leisure sector in Business in the Community's 2006 Corporate Responsibility Index
